Forney Corporation acquires FlameHawk® product

Addison, TX – Effective June 19, 2014 – Forney Corporation acquires FlameHawk® product line from UTC Aerospace. Forney Corporation is a global supplier of products and systems that control and monitor combustion processes in electric utility and heavy industrial applications. Flamehawk® is a field proven, reliable flame detector for use on frame and aeroderivative gas turbines. The purchase price was not disclosed.

Tom Demrick, CEO of Forney said: “This acquisition is a logical extension of our current flame detector product line and offers our customers an additional flame detector option for use in their gas turbine.”
